

WARNING! CELL PHONES ARE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH

The transmission of electrical energy through wires, the broadcasting of radio signals and the phenomenon of visible light are examples of electromagnetic radiation (EMR). EMR's always consists of both an electrical field and a magnetic field. It occurs in a wide range of frequencies, spanning what is called the electromagnetic spectrum. At the high end is cosmic radiation. At the low end is household electricity. The lower electromagnetic frequencies have been utilized by man to generate electricity and all associated electrical products, including all electronic communication systems and electrical appliances.

Pause for a moment and just look at your environment. How many appliances are plugged in? How many electronic devices do you use? The EMF's from cell phones, PDA's, laptop computers, etc are even more harmful. Some scientists estimate that you are now exposed to 100 million times the EMF radiation of your grandparents!! Visit www.antennasearch.com to see just how many towers are surrounding you. Research shows that these fields have a significant disruptive effect on the natural energy levels of your body. Your body's energy, as well as your cellular communication system, are altered by the high frequencies of EMF. Man-made radiation magnifies your body's "fight or flight" responses, compounding your adrenal stress and significantly reducing your ability to effectively cope. EMF's contribute to fatigue, decreased immune response, increased aging, increased genetic mutations and even cancer.

Fortunately your body possesses a remarkable ability to adapt to rapidly changing environments. But when your body is chronically bombarded by man-made EMF (electromagnetic fields), its innate intelligence and energy can become weakened. When your body's ability to cope is impaired, it's more difficult for your body to shield itself from negative influences. EMF's, in effect, can knock your innate intelligence and energy "out of phase".

Children are even more at risk because their skulls are still developing and the growth rate of cells is faster. Have you noticed how many children (younger and younger) are talking on a cell phone for hours!

Now there is a remarkably easy way to protect yourself and your family. Biopro Technology has produced a cell chip that harmonizes the EMF's. You simply stick the chip on your cell phone, laptop, computer, cordless phone, etc. It's easy, affordable and consistently effective. Biopro also has a truly safe headset-unlike most headsets- this one has a section of air through which EMF's cannot travel. Two other amazing Biopro products are a Home Harmonizer, which can be plugged into any outlet, harmonizing all EMF's for up to 60 foot radius and a Smart Card that energetically balances out liquids.
